

This is an example of a dialogue that you could elicit. If this is too difficult for your students then elicit a simpler version. The flow of the conversation needs to be clear. If the shop hasn't got the object, and when they are buying the next object then the students return to the original question (see *).

Can I help you?

* Yes, please. Have you got any (peaches)? / I'd like some (peaches).

Yes, Certainly. How many/ much?

3 (bottles/kilos) please.

Sorry. I haven't got any. Anything else? *

Ok. Here you are. Anything else? *

No thanks, That's all.

That's £10.54 altogether then.

All right. Here you are.

Thanks. Goodbye.
